OPINION ELSEWHERE AT HOME.

From a Democratic Reporter's Account.

BAR HARBOR, Aug. 21. As was expected the Town Hall was the close mass of humanity to night gathered for the purpose of hearing up 'Blaine's idol son,' Senator Blaine A good degree of enthusiasm was manifest which was heightened by the stirring music rendered by a full complement of brass instruments. E. M. Chapman Esq. presided at the meeting, and in a few remarks presented the speaker of the evening The Senator said that he was not in a good condition physically owing to a recent accident, and after taking a seat on a table spoke clearly and logically for about one hour and a half, holding the closest attention of his audience.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

THE POTTER COMMITTEE.

Major Burke Continues.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. The Potter committee resumed its session this morning. Burke is urged by counsel to agree with Grant with a view to ascertaining what he has to say on the question of the civil service of the present administration, but there was nothing said as far as I am aware about any commission. I was urged by Hayes and others, that all the troops would be withdrawn. Witness read from papers a statement that there was a resolution from Hayes to Foster, under date of Columbus, declaring the doctrine of peaceful counsels and assurances. Verbal guarantees were given to Sherman, Matthews, Foster, Dennison and Garfield, both at interviews held in the committee room of the Senate and at Wormley's Hotel. This letter enumerated all the guarantees and assurances we had received as messengers of peace and we did not scratch Tilden until the Democratic party shook him.

Have a copy intended for Stanley Matthews to Stoneman, whom I met on the cars landing to the Finance Committee's cabin. I never stated that I received any letters of guarantees, or assurances from Sherman or others at the conference. Burke said that to his knowledge there was no minute memoranda in writing. He met Foster subsequently at his room, but there was nothing of the conversation committed to writing.

Q.—Was there not an understanding between yourself, Garfield, Sherman, Foster and Matthews that you and other gentlemen on the other side should reduce any proposition made to writing?

A.—I was very much as was confident that the subject under discussion at the time was not reduced to writing.

Q.—And you asked him to whom you would stand over the documents. and Gov. Nicholls designated Pena of Pa.; what were those documents?

A.—Those I have already repeatedly described There were also briefs as to what we thought of the Supreme Court. There were memorials from several parties, and other documents as well that I cannot minutely describe. I supplied the Associated Press with a full synopsis of the matter, February 27th.

General Butler read the statement referred to by pinnemal and questioned witness as to its truthfulness and largeness of scope as well as frankness.

Witness—I did not say it was full, I said it contained in substance, that is what I meant.

Q.—Why did you leave out "filibustering." Was not that an important part"

A.—The world full and frank are your own.

Illinois—The motive for this man leaving out "filibustering" then is inexplicable.

Butler (pale)—I say I do not and I intend to prove it.

Witness then said that had agreed to do all he could to stay filibustering.

Butler said he was not desirous of knowing why witness failed to incorporate the filibustering paragraph in his despatch to the Associated Press. It was the most important part of the statement and yet it was omitted. Now I want to know the object for which this omission was made and I shall have it

Major Burke then said he was asked as only an authorized agent of the Hayes Government to whom he made the reports. The approval of his acts Government and the people of the State was sufficient for him.

Gen Butler said it was plain to him that all papers in the Wormly Hotel conference could not possibly be all on one side, and he was determined to take advantage of the broadest line. The original question on filibustering was rejected.

Major Burke replied: "My reasons for its omission was probably from prudential motives and that was of the members from Louisiana should state our view on the floor of the House. It was our desire that the substance of what we expected should be known to the country and understood by the country, at the time, in order to guard against any violation of the pledges given and in order that if they were violated and evil effects followed in Louisiana our action would be justified by the country.

Mr. Butler then handed the witness a book and asked him if the statement contained therein was the one made by Mr. Levy on the floor of the House?

A.—It was.

Q.—Was it known by the Democratic side of the House that an agreement had been made to stop filibustering?

A.—It was substantially stated to them that the sooner the count was permitted to proceed in Louisiana the sooner the troops could be withdrawn and necessity for the troops ceased for the 4th of March. I believe the count would have been completed even if this arrangement had not been made, from the fact that the members of Congress who favored the filibustering plan did so on representations from Louisiana, though they could get themselves which would have put our State Government. Many of them showed letters and telegrams from their constituents condemning the filibustering action, and that delay in counting the votes before the 4th of March would be highly detrimental to the country at large. Though on the counting day, we all agreed, I think, telegraphic Nicholls that despite all our precautionary arrangements the count would have gone on.

INCREASE OF CASES IN MEMPHIS.

REPORTS FROM OTHER CITIES.

Alarming Increase of Cases and the Death Rate.

MEMPHIS, Aug. 20. Last night and this morning there is quite an increase in the number of cases of fever, the physicians reporting fifty-seven new cases up to noon to-day. There has been an increase in the death rate also, the thirteen deaths reported with the report of seven yellows not to mention those developed in that no. Most of the city experts immunity from the plague. Relief is being received by the Citizens Relief Committee daily, and many persons this afternoon were availing themselves of the use of trains to get their families out of the city.

Grenada.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. The following despatch from Grenada, Miss., was received here to-day: "Fifty-six new cases. The fever is as bad as ever. Send money by express for nurses and to bury the dead."

Grenada, Aug. 21. Seven deaths to-day. The negroes are dropping down like sheep and will not help each other. Ninety-two deaths up to date

NEW YORK STATE.

Lawyers' Association.

SARATOGA, Aug 21. A large number of lawyers from all parts of the Union met in response to a call signed by Messrs. Bristow, Evarts and others to consult as to the organization of a National Bar Association. Roger Averill, of Connecticut, called them to order, and John Lebroje was called to preside, with Francis Rowle and J. Grant Thompson for Secretaries. Simon E. Baldwin, of Connecticut, stated the origin of the call. The intention was to combine the organization to such as had the origin of the call. The intention was to combine the organization to such as had clearance with a view of bringing out the legislative parties. A resolution to call on the persons invited to register and those only, was adopted.

NEW YORK CITY.

Sentenced.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. The Police Commissioners have officially appointed to the detail authorities to stop the employees of the New York Police Commissioners from contributing to the Democratic campaign fund. Speech, charged with unmanly failure to call to reach this port, is rapidly filling up from this cause, and the shores of Coney Island and Long Island are covered with garbage and objectionable matter from those garbage boats.

Postmaster Blanchfield.

Congressman Mellon has secured the passage by the Board of Aldermen of this city of the ordinance necessary to cede to the United States enough of the battery to complete the lot upon which is to be erected a general barge office for customs service in connection with the landing and examination of emigrants.

An unknown three-masted schooner, abandoned, coal laden, burned to the water's edge and still burning; is standing off Atlantic City, N. J.

The frigate Wyoming is at anchor five miles northeast of Cape Henry Life Saving station this morning.

J. Talbot & Co., furniture dealers, have failed; liabilities $200,000.

The Tribune's Saratoga despatch says that the Cornell conference will be attended to-day by not over fifty people; that they discover any attempt at starting a Hayes party, but that they have limited their work and changes in the Custom Houses, Post Offices, etc., in the interest of the Republican party.

NEW JERSEY

Tax Measure.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 21. The annual convention of the National Amateur Rowing Association last evening elected A. M. Bristow, Evarts and others to consult as to the organization of a National Bar Association. Roger Averill, of Connecticut, called them to order, and John Lebroje was called to preside, with Francis Rowle and J. Grant Thompson for Secretaries. Simon E. Baldwin, of Connecticut, stated the origin of the call. The intention was to combine the organization to such as had clearance with a view of bringing out the legislative parties. A resolution to call on the persons invited to register and those only, was adopted.

Incendiary Arrested.

Wm. O. Van Zandt, President of the Asbestos Co., and agent for the Van Zandt estate, under arrest on the charge of burning a house on Staten Island some time ago to secure the insurance. He was exposed by a man named, Howard, who was in his employ and who helped Van Zandt fix the house with kerosene and paper by which the incendiarism was accomplished. The house was insured in the Springfield and Hartford Cos., for $4,000, aggregate of $10,000, and the Boston Manufacturers' Co. had $1000 on the furniture which was removed before the house was burned.

FOREIGN NEWS.

GERMAN MISTAKE.

The London Times' View of Bismarck's Misapprehension in Asbestos.

LONDON, Aug. 21. The Times reprints an interview between Butler and Hayes and has elections; absent thereto and the majority, in which Hayes says of the letter "It subsequently became a question whether the Republic if it was possible for the disappointed and ignorant masses who have established themselves to it to pack their interests and combines against capital, but it is doubtful what her those who have made wealth by the modern society can do for the wedded to their own fancies of society struction as the most suggestive fanatics of the old world creeds. The United States have more to fear from Butler's and Kearney's influence than it their followers were less pretentious, less ignorant of the first elementations of political parties and less torn by internal jealousies."

American Counterfeit.

Thomas Forbes was arraigned before the Bow street police court to-day on charges of forgery. He was remanded till Sept. 18th to await the extradition papers now coming papers from New York.—Consul on both cities agree to the prosecution.

Peter Fraser, sentenced on the bank Wm. Bobbin from Rock Hill, South Carolina, was arrested at Greenwood yesterday at the request of the United American Government, charged on his with abstracting with murdering the bank's books in order to arrest him. Fraser repented the was handed to the officer who arrested him.—He was remanded to-day at the Bow Street police court to await information from the United States.

PEACE.

Congratulating a Sculptor with Absentia.

LONDON, Aug. 21. A despatch to the Times from Rome, says that although the Italia Redenta party has been discovered as not being a representative voice of the country, and though the utter absurdity of provoking a conflict with Austria has been fully confessed, the idea still exists in the minds of all Italians, and finds expression in the most modern journals, that the national, geographical and ethnographical unity of Italy is incomplete The depression of the rupture with Austria is due to the sense of weakness, which may pass away. Grant as the idea may be, it can only lead Italy into inextricable dangers. All her efforts are not will long be necessary to maintain her place as a Mediterranean power, and the future has even more immense oppressive burdens of interests.

Opinions to be Heeded.

"A paper currency is the great curse to any people and a particular curse to the laborer of any country, for its depreciation always falls upon the laborer."

ANDREW JACKSON.

"Capital may be produced by industry or accumulated by economy, but only paper will propose to create it by legislative tricks with paper."

THOMAS JEFFERSON.

"I know of no evil which more legislation can produce, so hard for the great body of the community as this of an irredeemable paper currency."

GOVERNOR HOUSEKOLL

"It is safe to affirm that all experience (so far as experience may be supposed to be expressed) on a depreciated medium has demonstrated the proposition that it cannot be only legislation, however stringent, be made a standard of value, or the just equivalent of gold and silver."

NATHAN CLIFFORD.

"Paper emissions by the Government are of a nature so liable to abuse, I may say so certain to be abused, that the wisdom of the Government will be shown by never trusting itself with so seducing and dangerous a power."

ALEXANDER HAMILTON.

"Is paper money) tends to aggravate the inequality of fortunes, to make the rich richer and the poor poorer, to multiply paupers and paupers, and to deepen and widen the gulf which separated Dives from Lazarus."

THOMAS H. BENTON.

"Irredeemable paper money converts the business of society into a mere lottery; and when the contagion comes, as come it must, it casts laborers out of employment, orphans manufactories and merchants and ruins thousands of honest, industrious citizens."

JAMES BUCHANAN.

"A return to specie payments at the earliest possible period compatible with due regard to all interests concerned, should ever be kept in view. Fluctuations in the value of currency are always injurious, and to reduce these fluctuations to the lowest possible point will always be a leading purpose in wise legislation. Convertibility, prompt and certain convertibility into coin is acknowledged to be the best and surest safeguard against them.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

"The loss which America has sustained since the peace, from the pestilential effects of irredeemable paper money, on the necessary confidence between men, on the necessary confidence in the public councils, on the industry and morals of the people and on the character of republican government, constitute an enormous debt against the States chargeable with this unprincipled measure, which must remain unpaidied, or rather it is an accumulation of guilt which can be expiated no otherwise than by a voluntary sacrifice on the altar of justice of the power which has been the instrument of it.

JAMES MADISON.

"As a very important source of strength and security, cherish public credit. One method of preserving it is to use it as sparingly as possible; avoiding occasions of expense by cultivating peace, but remembering also that timely disbursements to prepare for danger frequently prevent much greater disbursements to repel it; avoiding likewise the accumulation of debt, not only by shunning occasions of expense, but by vigorous exertions in time of peace to discharge the debt which unavoidable wars may have occasioned, not ungenerously throwing upon posterity the burden which we ourselves ought to bear.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

"The very base of all others who pay the deepest interest in a sound currency, and who receive most by encouraging legislation in every matter, is the man who tarns the daily bread by its daily toil. A depreciated currency, sudden changes of prices, paper money dating between morning and noon, and failing still lower between noon and night, these things constitute the very bottom time of speculators, and of the whole race of those who are at once the idle and the dishonest."

LOCAL MATTERS.

The in the station house last night.

The Court circus was well filled all day yesterday.

The stone yard on York street is progressing rapidly.

Hon. L. A. Emery of Ellsworth was at the Exchange last evening.

Quite a large party went down to Northport on the tug yesterday.

The barge Clifford will again be steamed to North Castle this morning.

The tug Ralph Rice has returned from Boston, with the dredging machine and scows.

One of the policemen states that there was a fight around-about this morning about two o'clock.

Mr. Leach of Brewer, has just completed a fish row boat for Capt. Farnsworth pilot of the steamer Cambridge.

The Women's Temperance Union hold their regular prayer meeting at four o'clock this afternoon in the First Baptist Chapel.

Mr. Frank Dyer of Machias, had a fit on Hancock street Friday morning. He was taken to the police station and a physician called to attend him.

We would remind our readers of the magnificent suit of the books, stationery, etc., belonging to the bankrupt estate of E. F. & W. G. Bass; this evening at ten o'clock.

The attention of the police was directed to a house on Hancock street last night by a woman screaming and on going up to ascertain the trouble found a fellow out of poor liquor and took him up to the station house.

Yesterday at Mr. D. W. Garland was stopping from his carriage at his residence on Ohio street, the horse started suddenly throwing him to the ground and breaking one of his hands quite badly. The horse ran some distance before he was captured, and made a wreck of the wagon.

There will be a meeting of the persons named as corporators in an act of incorporation entitled an act to provide for the improvement of the navigation of the Penobscot river for log driving, at the office of the Bangor Foundry and Machine Company, on the fifth of next month.

The dredging machine and scows of the Atlantic Dredging Company has arrived at High Head. The work of dredging the river at that point will commence immediately Mr. Packard is in charge. The whole work will be under the supervision of Engineer, Babb.

The Boston Traveller says: "A most delightful summer retreat is by the way of the hundred isles of commerce, passing up the beautiful Penobscot river by daylight. The scenery along this river is thought to surpass in beauty that on the Hudson, and the steamers are safe, safe and elegantly furnished."

SALE OF THE JEWETT LANDS. We call the attention of capitalists and lumber dealers to the business sale of timber lands belonging to the estate of H. P. Jewett & Co., which is to take place on Wednesday, September 4th, at City Hall. The sale is up by positive and absolute peremptory. These lands are said to be some of the best in the State, and no better investment could be made in these times than purchasing of these lands at the prices at which they will be likely to sell for.

Vicia Clifton's Female Minstrels appeared at Mercantile Hall last evening before a good sized audience. Their entertainment consisted of the usual song and dance business, some of the performers being very good singers. Vicia Clifton in her character changes and Mabel Stanley in the latter part of the entertainment were very good They make up pretensions to a classical entertainment, but to those people who enjoy a variety entertainment this company affords unexceptionable amusement.

FITCHBURG PAPER. Mr. Editor:—The fourth session of the East Somerset Educational Association will be held at Hartland on the 30th, 31st of the present month. Hon J. Carlisle, C. O. Rounds of the Western State Normal School, and other prominent educators will be present.

—The Fall term at the Maine Central Institute opened on Monday last with a full attendance.—Hon. Julius C. Burrows of Michigan, will address the citizens of this place next Saturday afternoon on the finances. Our city seems returning from their summer resorts.

DROWNED. "Yesterday as the steamer Howell was steaming to this city, when near Orphan's Island, Verona, parties on board saw a fisherman's dory capsize and two men tipped out. The steamer was at once headed for the scene and Capt. Delano and the engineer succeeded in rescuing one of the men, Francis Heath, who was in a helpless condition, but his brother Nelson was drowned and his body could not be recovered. Nelson Heath was a young man twenty-five years old, and highly esteemed. His loss will be a severe blow to his parents, with whom he lived.

Bank Examiner Wanted.

The attention of the public is directed to the statement just shed by Hon. W. W. Deister, Bank Examiner, in relation to the standing of the Bar per Mer nge Bank and the Penobscot Savings Bank. By a perusal of these statements it will be seen that the surplus of the former institution is $288,544.84, and the latter $30,489.30.

THE REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN

Senator Blaine at Newport—A Rousing Meeting—Newport County a Stronghold.

Mr. Editor: Notice having been posted announcing the people that Senator Blaine would address the citizens on last Monday evening, the people of Newport were surprised to find their village absolutely filled on that evening, with a very large crowd of people who came pouring in from the neighboring towns Mechanic Hall was quickly filled and packed by more than six hundred people. Doors, windows, stage and entrance were thronged and many so many were obliged to remain outside. Some gained positions on boxes or other available where they could gain sight of the speaker.

Mr. Blaine was escorted to the hall by the band and as he passed through the audience was greeted by applause upon applause. As soon as he came upon the stand the audience rose and gave three hearty cheers for "Blaine's Great Statesman."

Mr. Blaine refrained from almost laughter upon the point under speaking. He discussed the financial question in a very clear and convincing manner, and with such elements and manner that it was impossible for one of any party to take offence. The audience was the most attentive of any I ever saw in love and at the close of the speaking, the audience rose again and gave three other cheers for Gov. Connor, Representative Powers and the Republican party.

Many who heretofore have been undecided were convinced off the truth, and were heard to make such expressions as "I know now which way to vote" "I never heard anything made so plain before."

Newport will throw a large majority for Connor and Powers this fall then in 1876.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

ARGOOK (GRANDJAM) TERM.

Hon. JOHN A. PETERS, Justice Presiding.
JAMES K. DUNNING, Clerk.
JOSEPH HEALEY, Co. Attorney.
BYRON BOYER, Stenographer.

Wednesday, Aug. 21.

State vs. James Hapgoods James Wasson.

This is an indictment for breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony.

The time of the alleged breaking and entering was on the 26th of July 1878, and the place the store in Dexter occupied by a Mrs. Stevens as a millinery shop and by the Dexter Savings Bank as their banking office.

It appears in the evidence for the Government that the Treasurer of the Bank on the night of the alleged breaking and entering went home at an early hour, and Mrs. Stevens closed the store.

Mrs. Stevens testified that between the hours of seven and nine on the evening of the night of the alleged breaking and entering, two men came into the store and one of them called for patterns needles, that she was surprised at the question; that she identifies the respondent as the man who called for the needles; that two ladies were in the store when the men called for the needles; that the front doors of the store on the next morning were found to have been broken open and the safe inside disturbed; that maybe were on the floor, etc.

Mrs. True, called by the Prosecution, testifies to being in Mrs. Stevens store when the man called for the pantaloon needles and thinks the respondent somewhat like that man; that she noticed something peculiar in the getting out.

Mrs. Elder Ryan, called by prosecution, also testified to being in the store when the man called for pantaloon stockings, that Mrs. Stevens told the man that she did not keep them, that the two noticed something peculiar in the manner of his going out of the store; that the man was very gentlemanly appearing; that he had a short neck and broad shoulders; that she had never seen the man before; that she saw him again when he came into the Court Room yesterday, that she identifies the respondent as that man; that she thinks and knows it is him; that the heard of the breaking of the store the next morning; that the store was lighted; that she didn't see but one man; that she not facing the door of the store and did not notice another man; that she did not see the man's full face.

Mr. McCrillis, called by the prosecution, testified that he remembers the time of the alleged breaking and entering; that he was at or near the store the next morning; that he was of the store when Mrs. Stevens entered her store; that Mrs. Stevens put the key into the door and it was already open; that the catch was burst open and was upon the floor; that the drawn appeared to have been badly jammed from top to bottom, that there were a number of silvers on the floor; that the lock was not broken, but the catch into which the bolt enters was pryed off; that the door in the safe stood ajar in the rear half been pryed open.

Mr. Carr, called by Government, testified that he was in Dexter in July, 1878, that his residence is in Winthrop; that he was in Dexter on Monday the 28th of July; that he was at Mrs. Stevens store, that he examined the marks on the store door; that he measured the marks or stains of them; that the Winthrop Bank was robbed on the 26th of July, that there were a number of stains on the store door in Dexter, that he is Deputy Sheriff of Kennebec Co.

Mr. Dustin, testified that he resides in Dexter; that he was an officer of the bank; that the new safe was got the 4th or 5th of July; that the valuables were put in the new safe on the 6, 7 or 8th of July; that he saw a part of the valuables put into the new safe and only those after they were put in, that the valuables consisted of bonds etc, to the amount of $300,000; that he was a member of the firm of Dustin & Miles; that the firm's machine shop was broken open the same night the store was; that they noticed a glass of wrought iron about 8 inches long 5 inch round; that the outside door of the machine shop was broken; that a desk was also broken open; that the missing iron was subsequently found near the bank building near the door which was broken open.

Mrs. Harriet Berry called, resides in St. Albans and resided there in 1878, about 100 rods from Ripley Inn, about six miles from Dexter village; that in July 1878 three strangers called at her house on the 21st of July the next day after the alleged breaking and entering.

The Court here adjourned until half-past two o'clock in the afternoon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Mr. McCrillis recalled. Store door is now in one of the rooms in the Court House, in the same condition as far as I know as I, was then; don't think they have been pained.

Mrs. Stevens recalled.—Remained in the building after the breaking until a year from last November; don't think the doors were changed at all; left the store November 1878.

The doors were then brought into the Court Room. They were ordinary store doors with two panels of glass in each.

Mr. McCrillis said that the marks were the same, and supposed that they were made with a round piece of iron; found two splinters on the floor, pieces of door, but they have been labeled so that's don't show quite as plain as it did.

Mrs. Berman—said that some of the marks on the door were, three pinchers in the bunking fell inferring; that she saw them together somewhat after the breaking and entering.

Mr. Wm G. Robinson called.—Resides in in the town of Ripley, in July '78 resided in St. Albans, about four miles from Dexter village, was on the road the next morning after the attempted robbery towards Ripley about eight and ten o'clock; about five miles and a half from Dexter and three parted, separately, going south towards St. Albans.

At this point the witness was responsible inquiries the persons which he met on the road. This question was objected to by counsel for the Defense, on the ground that the counsel for the prosecution could not produce testimony in relation to flight until it had been proven that there was a breaking and entering committed. Judge Peters ruled that the testimony was admissible, subject to objection.

Mr. Robinson testified that the first one who was a middle aged man, heavy set, or fleshy person, would weigh about 200 pounds; he upon an direct and cross examined; he was six miles; had a valise with him; the second man was of short, round-shouldered man; had nothing with him; asked no questions the third man was taller and heavier, should think he would weigh about 200 pounds; had a valise with him; never saw the man before; he then identified the prisoner as one of the men he met on the road, as near as he could remember the prisoner was the second man he met on the road; he noticed particularly the clothes and hat of the second man; he was dressed in a dark suit and low hat; at that time had not heard of the Dexter affair; he remembered the man from the fact that it was not a common occurrence to meet strangers on that road; could not swear positively that the prisoner was one of the men but think that he is.

Mrs. Berry recalled—Three men called at my house at about nine o'clock on the morning of July 21st, 1878; came from the direction of Ripley; one had a valise in his hand, the other one over his shoulder; I was alone in the house at the time with two small children, but my husband came in while they were there. One of the men was not very tall, with dark complexion and curly hair, sandy whiskers and wore a pleak hat; the second man was heavier, dark hair, smooth face and dressed about the same as the first man; had a gold chain and gold ring on his finger and think he wore a cap; the third man was not very tall, broad shoulders, sandy complexion, little bald and had a small hand and foot; had a full face and small moustache. They stopped at the house about half an hour. One of them looked in the window and asked if he could have some bread and milk; opened the door and asked them in. One of them sat near the door and the other near the window; the third kept moving about; got the milk and while getting the dishes heard one of them say, "I'm in bad better look out that way last one what kind of a chance there is;" from I came in heard one of them say, "There is a good chance, the doors and open clear enough." They then commenced to eat and when my husband came in unobserved he seemed to dislike them considerably. One of them then asked my husband how far it was to Stacy Pond; and he replied that he knew of no pond by that name; but directed them to what is known as Moose Pond. He asked them if they were going fishing, but they made no ready reply. One of them scanned a map of his valise and sat it down very carefully. Their conversation seemed to be in relation to getting somewhere and meeting some other person. When they left they took the road towards St. Albans. Never saw the men before; but looked at them very carefully at the time; saw one of them afterwards at the Dexter Exchange in March, 1878; saw him afterwards at the Town Hall; heard him speak and talked with him; the next time I saw him was in the Court House yesterday, and am positive that the prisoner is one of the men that called at my house. On being cross-examined she said the man who I think is Hope had on a dark coat, light vest, light pants, light straw hat with a black band; had some whiskers on his chin.

Mr. W. H. Works called—Resides in Guilford; on the 21st of July was on the road from Guilford to St. Albans by way of Dexter; arrived at Dexter at 8 A.M., and heard the people talking about the attempted robbery. Soon after I passed into St. Albans, overtook a man on foot on the road leading to the two ponds; he had a valise with him; passed two other men some distance further on, and one of them had a valise. One of them asked how far it was to St. Albans village and the other asked how far it was from St. Albans to Sheffield, and from there to Albion; saw these valises about a mile of St. Albans; stopped on the road and they passed the horse and then I drove by them again. Dr. St. Albans saw them again with a watch; got to just the horse shed. One of them had muddy complexion, and in walking up town asked me if there was a barber shop in the place; told him there was not and he enquired if there was a hotel there, and told him he could find accommodations at Mr. Baker's. Next saw them at Mr Mather's store and heard Mr. Baker say to them, that he would have dinner on for a few minutes; heard a man say if they had heard about the Dexter bank being broken open, and as soon as this conversed on ensued, one of the three men entered into conversation with Mr Baker in a low tone. The sandy complexion man then ask of Mr. Baker if he could provide a team to carry them to Hartland, and Mr. Baker replied that he could and ordered one of his men to get a team. As soon as the team came, the three men got into the wagon and rode off in the direction of Hartland. Noticed that the sandy complexion man had a scar on his face and a little shorter, pricked in his hand. Next time I saw the man with a scar on his face was in Town Hall in Dexter, afterwards saw him in the Dexter Hotel, and then in the Court House in Bangor yesterday, and am positive that the prisoner is the same man.

The Court here adjourned.

Decisions in Law.

The following decision in law has been received by James H. Burgess Esq., Clerk of the Eastern Law Court:

PENOBSCOT COUNTY CASE.

Dustin Dudley et als Trustees, and Wm. W. Bolster Bank Examiner, Petra. in the matter of the Newport Savings Bank. "Petition dismissed."

Reported.—1. Under the act of 1877, C. 53 the State Bank Examiner has no power to proceed and initiate the doings of a Savings Bank if it is solvent, upon an examination of its assets and liabilities, and from other evidence, that it has exhausted its powers, or failed to comply with the rules, regulations and conditions provided by law for the government of its business, or that any of the officers have refused such visitation of the bank as the law allows, nor can he call to his assistance any other person.

2. The powers of the rules restrictions and limitations provided by law for the government of the business of corporations of the kind mentioned in the act of 1877, c. 53, are not applicable to the case of a voluntary association, which has commenced the doings of a corporation, without the meaning of such act.

3. The Court has no power to order the assets to which the deposits are reduced, to be paid by insolvency.
